Important facts have been recently disthe treatment of discases of the stomach It has been experimentally and clinically proven in the most infallible way that, in grave disturbances of the digestive functions of the stomach, the intestines would do the work instead. It has also been de veloped in an equally positive manner that "starvation diet" will not produce a cure in cases of stomach irregularities. Loss of strength and weight in the dyspeptic patient is caused by the stomach failing to put the food to proper use. It is, therefore, absolutely necessary to apply only an ef-fective remedy which would promote digestion by increasing the supply of nature's digestive fluids. This is accomplished by the use of Eupepsia Tablets, sold by Glus-gists under an absolute guarantee to give immediate relief and permanently cure stomach irregularities, indigestion and dys-

A HELPING HAND is Gladly Extended by a St. Louis Citizen.

There are many enthusiastic citizens in St. Louis prepared to tell their experience for the public good. Testimony from such a source is the best of evidence and will prove a "helping hund" to scores of readers. Read the following statement:

Mr. John Kelly, drayman for years in St. Louis, living at No. 1427 North Sixteenth street, says: "In addition to backache attacks, which I had for five or six years, trouble with the kidney secretions existed. I tried more than one means to get relief, but until I went to Wolff-Wilson's, corner Sixth street and Washington avenue, I met with very indifferent success. The treatment was just what I required. Since I stopped it I have not noticed a symptom of a recurrence."

WILL DIRECTS STAHLHUT HEIRS NOT TO SELL REALTY.

Fortune Is Left to Children of Man Who Was a Laborer in Callfornin in 1849.

The will of F. Gottlieb Stahlhut, who died June 30, last, was admitted to probate at erday afternoon on a warrant sworn out | Edwardsville yesterday. It is dated Februnry 21, 1902, and names as his helrs the widow, Chrstine Stahlhut; Lulu M., Fred G., William, Gottlieb, Minnie, Charles and Manda Stahthut, grandchildren; Louisa Stahlhut, widow of Fred C. Stahlhut, and the following children: Louis S. Take, Dorothea Bode, Eliward H., Henry H., William E., and Gust G. Stahlhut.

The real estate is valued at $120,000, and the personal property at $90,000, but outside estimates place it far above those figures. F. C., H. H., and William E., Stahlhut and Henry Take are named executors, and their bond has been fixed at $25,000. The will is a lengthy document, dividing the property minutely and carefully. Its concluding paragraph is the following admonition:

"I hereby expressly also direct and provide that no one of my children shall sell, mortgage or encumber any of the real estate I have given him or her by this will, except in case of pressing accessity, or they may sell it to each other. And I urge upon each of my children that he or she take good care of the property I have given them, and always conduct him or herself as I believe they will, in a manner becoming good, honest and industrious citizens."

The senior Mr. Stahlhut laid the foundation of his fortune in California in the days of '49, not by disging for gold, but by day labor at $6 a day, and, inving saved $6,000, returned to Madison County and bought farm land, gradually extending his holdings.
